Chance for a bright idea

There's only one reason why so many people use advertising—they haven't found a cheaper way to do what advertising does.

And what it does is save time in finding enough customers to keep factories and stores busy.

There's a chance here for a bright idea.

But it's got to be mighty good. Advertising is.

Coffee Public Schools To Get Increase In Funds

Public schools of Coffee County will receive a $10,816 increase in the minimum program fund allotment for the year 1942-43, making possible an average increase in teachers' salaries of at least 10 per cent.

Word of the increased funds which will be available in the county for the next school year, a total of $108,116, as compared with $106,297 during the 1941-42 school year, was received recently from Governor Frank M. Dixon and Dr. Albert H. Collins, State Superintendent of Education.

The announcement followed a special meeting of the State Board of Education at Montgomery, called by the Governor to increase teachers' salaries. The 10 per cent minimum raises will come from a $1,500,000 general fund surplus already appropriated by the Legislature for school use.

The board voted to ask Governor Dixon to call a special session of the State Legislature for the November election, to appropriate from the anticipated $8,000,000 surplus in the general fund to the State Board of Education a special fund for the following purposes:

1. To add a month to present seven-month school terms, at an estimated cost of $2,541,000 yearly.
2. To provide $250,000 in free textbooks for elementary grades.
3. To increase the teacher retirement fund by the sum of $400,000.
4. To provide funds for "higher institutions of learning and vocational education" as the state calls for.
5. To hold the remainder of the surplus as a reserve for ensuring maintenance of the school program through the next four years.

Provided, however, that if said surplus is more than sufficient to provide for the foregoing, such additional surplus shall be applied to further increasing allotments for teachers' salaries.

"Where 8-month terms already prevail, local school boards will have the option of using the increased funds to increase the teachers' pay over and above the approximate 10 per cent raise for which funds are being provided," the Governor pointed out.

Attending the meeting were: Rep. Earl McGowan, Chairman; Judge J. S. Wittmer, Oneonta; Judge A. H. Carmichael, Tusculum; Lt. Gov. Nominate, H. Ellis, Columbus; C. M. A. Rogers, Mobile; N. D. Benson, Opelika, and Donald Comer, Birmingham.

Coffee County Farmers Grow Better Sw. Potatoes

It has been two years since members of the Basin, Brooklyn, Mt. Zion, Pine Level and Zion Chapel vocational evening classes under supervision of W. L. Walsh, vocational agricultural field worker, decided to do away with their old run-out sweet potatoes and replace them with the new improved Copper Skin variety. More than one million plants were purchased by these farmers in this sweet potato improvement program. It was necessary to secure these plants outside of the county and many were ordered from other states. This meant that hundreds of dollars were being sent out of Coffee County.

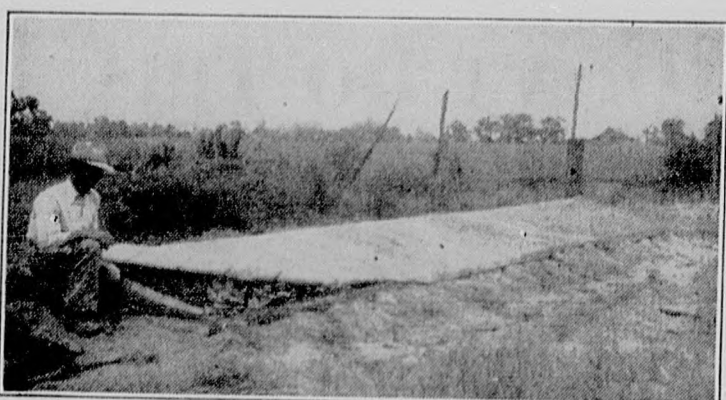

The problem of securing these plants each season has been solved by several of the evening class members producing plants for their own needs as well as having a surplus to sell to their neighbors.

The improved type fine heated hotbed has been used by various class members. Hotbeds have been constructed in the Basin community by P. E. Meek, in F. H. Redmon, Orell Parker, and W. T. Moore, in Brooklyn community by J. A. Paul, in Mt. Zion community by J. E. Hudson, C. J. Meek and Lawrence Wilson; in the Brooklyn community by A. J. Parker and Neil Parker, and in Zion Chapel area by the vocational day unit class of boys and R. E. Chapman. Several other members using the mature-heated beds for producing plants for home use. Great improvement has been noted in sweet potato production in these communities during the past two years. The potatoes are of better quality, make larger yields, are free from diseases and keep better in storage during the winter than the old varieties. A state inspector makes regular inspections of several fields in each community each season so these members may keep their potatoes free from disease and have certified seed and plants to sell.

It is no longer necessary to send several hundred dollars outside the county each season for potato plants. These various communities are now prepared to take care of their own needs. The money usually spent for plants is kept at home, the plants are fresher, stronger and better, and this means more economical sweet potato production. Yields of from 250 to 300 bushels of potatoes per acre have been reported with the Copper Skin variety.

Neil Parker, of Curtis community, used a fine-heated hotbed this past season to produce tomato plants. He produced the plants needed for setting out two acres of tomatoes for himself as well as additional supply for his neighbors. These tomatoes are now being marketed at a good price.

Mr. F. E. Meek, of Basin Community, examining potato plants in his fine-heated hotbed, which are about ready to transplant to the field. Mr. Meek grows about two acres of potatoes each year for home use and livestock feed.

FARM WOMEN URGED TO SAVE WASTE FATS

AUBURN, Ala.—A nation-wide "Save Your Waste Fats" campaign is being conducted by State Extension Services distributing cards explaining how to save and sell fats.

"Save pan drippings from roast ham, beef, lamb, and poultry. Save broiler drippings from steaks, chops, veal, and bacon. Save deep fats, whether hard or vegetable shortening, from fried potatoes, fish, doughnuts, etc., reuse the card. It is best to pour the fat into a wide-mouthed can, such as coffee or shortening can. Be sure the can is spotlessly clean. Strain your fat as you pour them in, so that meat particles and other foreign matter are removed. Keep in refrigerator, or a cool, dark place until you have collected at least one pound. Take fat to your meat dealer, who is cooperating patriotically and will pay you for them.

PLANT FALL TOMATOES FOR REPLANTING LATER

AUBURN, Ala.—Tomato seed for producing a fall crop of tomatoes may be planted now and the plants may be transplanted around July 15, advises Lyle Brown, extension horticulturist.

Varieties recommended are: Marglobe, Rutgers, Early Detroit and Pritchard, all red varieties.

The proper spacing of transplanted plants is three to four feet apart in four to five foot rows. Shading by placing bush tops over the newly set plants is highly essential. About 800 to 1,000 pounds of a 6-8-4 placed under the plants with a side-dressing of 150 pounds of nitrate of soda at first blooming should be sufficient.

PROPER GIN REPAIRS CONSERVE TIME AND FUEL

AUBURN, Ala.—Gin operators can save time, labor, fuel, wear on machinery and improve quality of cotton by checking up, making proper adjustments and repairs on gin equipment this summer, says J. E. Wilson, extension agricultural engineer.

Experiments by the U. S. Department of Agriculture at their cotton ginning laboratory show that by replacing worn brushes, ginning time per bale can be decreased seven to 10 per cent. Air-blast nozzles improperly adjusted have caused losses of as much as $1.00 per bale of long staple cotton and has slowed down the ginning process as much as 25 per cent.

POISONING NOW REDUCES INFESTATION BY WEEVIL

AUBURN, Ala.—Farmers may be able to materially reduce the boll weevil infestation this year by locating infested areas and poisoning the weevils as they emerge from winter quarters, says W. A. Ruffin, extension entomologist, in reporting that boll weevils are already numerous in many cotton fields of Central Alabama. Best time to poison boll weevils with calcium arsenate is during the time the cotton is fruiting heavily.

MUCH SOIL BUILDING EXPECTED THIS FALL

AUBURN, Ala.—Alabama farmers are planning for a big winter legume planting season. Figures at the end of May showed that better than 19,000 tons of superphosphate, 14,000 tons of basic slag, and 13,000 tons of lime had been requested under the conservation materials program. A great part of this was used for pasture development last winter and spring.

Orders for large quantities of phosphate, basic slag, lime, and winter legume seed are going into county A.A.A. offices every day. These materials and seed are to be used in planting winter cover crops this fall.

The real period for most conservation practices is only now getting underway and Mr. Jones said he expected to see a record acreage planted in winter legumes.

MOWING PASTURES CHECKS NOXIOUS PLANT GROWTH

AUBURN, Ala.—June is the month to start the mower in pastures, according to J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist, who says that mowing a pasture serves a two-fold purpose.

1. Some of the pasture plants may have reached the heading-out stage, becoming tough and unpalatable, and clipping will stimulate a fresh palatable, nutritious growth of grass to provide grazing late in the season.

2. Eradication of weeds that rob pastures of moisture. Weeds grow abundantly on newly seeded pasture, therefore, pastures seeded last fall and this spring are likely to be badly infested. Systematic clipping is required to keep them from maturing seed.
